are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.
As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy, it becomes par excellence the best vehicle with which to associate the other vitalizing ingredients of healthy Blood, Nerve and Muscle. In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and whenever it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.
MANCHESTER, N. H., June 18, 1880.
MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS.
Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of "Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the Fall of 1878 I had a physician eighty days in succession, besides the counsel of several others. They gave me but little encouragement, some of them none. Last July I was advised to give your remedy a trial. I did so, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say I have gained a hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have increased in weight about fifteen pounds, and my cough, which was quite severe, is nearly disappeared. I believe had it not been for your Syrup, I should ere this have been beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,
ALBERT STORY.

DEATH OF REV. E. H. CHAPIN, D. D.

Rev. Edwin Hubbell Chapin, D. D., one of the most eminent clergymen in this country, and many years a leader in the Universalist denomination, died in New York, Monday morning, Dec. 27, at one o'clock, after a prolonged illness.

Dr. Chapin was born in Union Village, Washington county, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1814, and received an academic education in Bennington, Vt., and at one time contemplated making the law his profession. His mind, however, was early attracted to religious questions, and after completing his studies he became associate editor of a Universalist paper published in Utica, N. Y., under the title of The Magazine and Advocate. From thus advocating the doctrines of the Universalist denomination in the columns of the press he took the more prominent position of a preacher, entering the pulpit in 1837, when only twenty-three years old.

His first pastorate was over the Independent Christian Church of Richmond, Va., where he remained three years. From Virginia he came to Massachusetts in 1841, and was installed as pastor of the Universalist Church in Charlestown. Here he attracted much attention by his effectiveness as a preacher, and as a result he was called in 1846 to a broader field of work, the School Street Universalist Church, of Boston, engaging him to act as associate pastor with Rev. Hosea Ballou, then regarded as one of the fathers of the liberal creed in New England.

By this time his reputation had grown widely and the School Street Society was able to enjoy and profit by his ministrations only two years, when a new and still more extensive field opened to him. He was called to the pastorate of the Fourth Universalist Church, in New York, and accepting the invitation, entered upon a relation which has continued to the present time uninterrupted, except by the illness which, compelling him to seek recuperation by rest and by travel in Europe, has kept him out of his pulpit a number of months past. At the time of his death he was one of the longest settled pastors in New York City.

When Dr. Chapin first went to New York, the society of which he took charge worshipped in a church on Murray street, whence it removed in 1842 to a building on Broadway, built for and long occupied by the Church of All Souls (Unitarian). There it remained until 1866, when it removed to its present house of worship on Fifth avenue, which was built under its own direction. His pastorate has been as marked in its success as in its length, and his ministry in New York was one of large results.

In addition to his pulpit duties and the exercise of his functions as a pastor, Dr. Chapin was a frequent occupant of the lecture platform and a welcome speaker at conventions. He was also an author, and has published several works of more than ordinary value. These included several volumes of sermons and works entitled "Duties of Young Men," "Duties of Young Women," "Characters of the Gospel," "Communion Hours," "Crown of Thorns," "The Beatitudes," "Moral Aspects of City Life," "Humanity in the City" and "True Manliness."

As an orator Dr. Chapin had few peers. His magnificent physique enabled him to sustain the strain incident to a prolonged effort without any loss of power toward the close. He appeared to gather strength as he warmed to the subject, and his words came forth with a volubility that knew no rest till he had exhausted his topic. He was not only endowed with gifts, which made him tender and sympathetic when his emotions were awakened in a philanthropic cause, but his words were burning and irresistible when he dealt with social evils and national wrongs. His manhood made him a welcome guest in every household, and he imparted to all some portion of his broad love for all that was good and noble. As a preacher he gained the respect of his hearers, and as a friend he cemented the bond by ties of warmest friendship.

In 1855 Harvard University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

For the last four years Dr. Chapin has complained of fatigue, which no amount of rest seemed to relieve. Frequent trips to Europe failed to do him permanent good, and, in fact, on ces surrounded by friends during a foreign trip, he was apt to become homesick and worry constantly until he could return; yet such was the indomitable will visible in every fibre of his mortal frame that he, at least, kept when ill, that he would not allow the trustees of the church to engage an assistant until recently, when it became evident that he would not be able to preach again. Although troubled with asthma and dyspepsia, it cannot be said that he had contracted any particular disease. His mind remained clear during the last four years of his suffering, the only indication of his waning mental power being his constant nervousness and worry about trifling matters. Although the affairs of his church were in a most prosperous condition—the congregation being largely composed of men of wealth—he worried lest his members should be discontented on account of his frequent absence, and if he noticed that any prominent members of the church were not regularly in their pews, he would attribute their absence to his own shortcomings and make himself miserable. Dr. Chapin's last sermon in his church of the Divine Paternity, was on Palm Sunday last year, and on that day it was feared he would not be able to finish the service. He went to Europe last summer, but came back no better, imagining from the fact that he met no familiar faces in Switzerland, that his friends were deserting him. Two weeks ago he went out for the last time. He continued until Sunday to walk about the house, and had no thoughts, apparently, that the end was so near. He was particularly accurate about what friends said to him concerning his personal appearance. He asked each person to tell him how he looked, and if the reply was not favorable he would remain despondent for hours. He passed Sunday with his six grandchildren, no danger of his death being apprehended, until evening. He died an absolutely painless death, so far as could be noticed, at ten minutes after midnight, Monday morning.

Although Dr. Chapin was connected with every charitable institution identified with the Universalist Church, the Chapin Home for the Aged and Infirm was the most intimately connected with the dead clergyman's work and with the Church of the Divine Paternity. The fund with which the Home was established was raised for a memorial of Dr. Chapin by different members of the congregation. The Home was incorporated on the 1st of May, 1869. The Board of Trustees was composed of ladies of Dr. Chapin's church, and no lady was eligible unless a member of the Universalist Church. No candidate for admission to the home is refused admission on account of creed or color. Both sexes are admitted, but the applicants must not be less than 65 years old. About 50 persons are now cared for in the home. The institution owns its own building on Sixty-sixth street, near Lexington avenue, which cost $83,000 to erect, and other property of income-bearing value. Dr. Chapin's family consists of his wife, two sons and a daughter, Mrs. L. V. Davison.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Capt. W. N. Ames, of Lewiston, a gentleman about sixty years of age, slipped on the sidewalk, as he was coming home from the post office, last week. He fell on his left wrist, and ruptured the ligaments of his wrist badly. It is a severe injury, and as he is an iron-worker by occupation, it will probably seriously interfere with his business in the future.

The Lewiston police had an an alleged forgery case to investigate, Friday. A French boy-operative presented an order from his mother, for his month's wages, at a mill counting-room, got his money and ran away to Canada, several weeks ago. He was about fifteen years old. When his money was gone, he came home. His parents claimed another operative forged the order by which he obtained his wages, and wanted an arrest made. The affair seems to grow out of a misunderstanding, and not worth making much of a fuss over, anyway.

There will be a large criminal docket at the next term of Supreme Court for Androscoggin county, which sits at Auburn, one week from to-day. Seven appeal cases and thirteen bound-over cases go up from the Lewiston Municipal Court. The appeal cases are nearly all liquor cases. The bound-over cases include a large variety of offences, there being one perjury case, the Hornet libel case, the Music Hall burglary case, and two gambling cases, among others. From the Auburn Municipal Court two appeal cases and two bound-over cases go up. County Attorney Savage, will have his hands full, on his first term.

The Lewiston Journal says: A procession of one hundred and fifty fat wethers from Buckfield were driven afoot into Auburn, Wednesday night, about eight o'clock, by Foster, the veteran drover. The market has been a little short of sheep, and the supply comes in good season. We have seen letters from several places in Somerset county, showing that a large number of sheep are feeding for market in that region. In the vicinity of North Anson, there are said to be about 2,000 sheep for sale, and word comes from Norridgewock that there are fully 1,000 in that vicinity. There are probably 5,000 wethers in Somerset county, which will find their way to market within a month or six weeks. A double-deck car load—about 200 sheep—will be received at Auburn within a few days.

A Lewiston man is heir to a good slice of property in Lima, Peru, left by a rich uncle, and is waiting for the South American belligerents to declare peace, in order that he may possess his inheritance.

Cumberland.

The Argus says there are now outstanding $787,000 of bonds issued by Portland in aid of the Atlantic & St. Lawrence railroad. Deducting from the above sum the sinking fund held by the city for the payment thereof, there is left about $478,000 now due the city. The Grand Trunk Railway Company, which assumed the control and all liabilities of the Atlantic & St. Lawrence, have been anxious to pay the above $478,000 and cancel the bonds, and Wednesday formally tendered that amount to it. As the bonds are well secured and have about six years longer to run, with interest at six per cent., and as the city treasurer cannot place the money, if received, in a better-paying investment, it would seem that his action was for the best interests of the city.

The Portland Montgomery Guards have re-elected their old officers.

A sub-committee of gentlemen from Bridgton, had an interview with the President and officers of the Ogdensburg road in Portland, Friday, to get their views in regard to the connection of the two roads at Hiram.

The exports at a port for November and December, 1879, were $1,466,326. For same time 1880, $1,836,252; increase from 1879, $369,906.

At a regular meeting of Bosworth Post, G. A. R., Portland, held at their headquarters, Friday evening, comrade John Stetson, of Lewiston, assistant mustering officer of the Department of Maine, was officially announced to be present and proceeded to muster the officers elected at the first meeting in December. At the close of the exercises speeches were made by the retiring and new officers, the mustering officer and others. The Post starts on the new year in better condition than ever.

Kennebec.

The Waterville Mail says that Roberts & Marston, of Waterville, are doing a larger business this winter than ever before. They now have a force of sixty or seventy hands on day and night work. Last season they made use of 800 cords of white birch in the manufacture of shanks. The large increase in their business the present season will require upwards of 1000 cords.

—Granite is being hauled for the new cotton mill.

The Mail says that Charles Drummond, esq., and Weymouth Jones, both of Winslow, are operating quite extensively this winter in pine lumber. Mr. Jones is operating on the Perry Smiley lot, and has made a splendid winter's work thus far.

—Mr. C. M. Priest, at the Winslow shoe peg factory, shipped by rail, Wednesday of this week, one hundred and fifty barrels of pegs for the Liverpool, England, market.

H. B. S. writes: There is now living in the town of Vienna, in one neighborhood of about one mile—containing only eleven houses—twelve old people, whose united ages are a little over nine hundred and sixty, averaging over eighty years.

The Journal says that Messrs. Wm. W. and P. G. Bradstreet, have agreed to give their lot south of the Gardiner Bank, or as much of it as is needed, upon which to erect a public library building, provided the city of Gardiner, or individuals, or both, will erect a suitable building.

A short time since there appeared in the Maine Farmer, a communication from F. B. Greene, Esq., one of Augusta's rising young lawyers, in which he very minutely detailed the fallacy of the popular theory that the Western country affords superior inducements to young men of the East. Mr. Greene has made an extended tour through several of the far western States, and the article from his pen will be read with interest by all into whose possession it may come.

Oxford.

A telegram was received in Augusta, Friday, from J. H. Cochrane, Esq., of Augusta, now in Nashville, Tenn., announcing the death of Dr. E. Mellen Wright, a native of Bethel, in Oxford county. He died Friday morning, at Chattanooga, Tenn., of acute pneumonia. Mr. Wright was a lieutenant in Co. B, 23d Maine Regiment. At the close of the war he went South and began the practice of medicine, at Chattanooga, where he at once took high rank as a physician and a citizen. He was several times elected Mayor of that city, and two years ago was the republican candidate for Governor of Tennessee. For two years he has been a member of the United States Sanitary Commission, and has traveled extensively throughout the Southern States. The deceased was a young man of uncommon ability, and was universally esteemed. He was about 36 years of age.

Sagadahoc.

At the recent term of the S. J. Court, in Sagadahoc county, the following Licenses were granted: Olivia J. Schobley libellant, vs. T. J. S. Schobley. Divorce decreed. Custody of the child given as prayed for. E. H. Kimball for libellant. Lucy E. Johnson libellant, vs. Edwin R. Johnson. Divorce decreed. Custody of child given as prayed for. Wm. T. Hall for libellant. Marcia A. Mead libellant, vs. Artemus Mead. Divorce decreed. E. J. Millay for libellant. Mary E. Adams libellant, vs. Joseph Adams. Divorce decreed. Libellant to have custody of child as prayed for. E. J. Millay for libellant. Jas. H. Wright libellant, vs. Julia E. Wright. Divorce decreed. W. Gilbert for libellant.

York.

The Argus says that during the year 1880, J. B. Wakefield, of South Hollis, shipped about 9,000 bushels, and Day & Wakefield, of East Waterboro, about 19,000 bushels of charcoal to Boston part es, using in its manufacture between seven and eight hundred cords of wood. The prospect is good for an increased trade the present year.

The January term of the Supreme Judicial Court, convened in Saco, Judge Symonds presiding. The old docket is small, and new entries are not large. Several criminal matters of importance will come before the Grand Jury, including the case of John T. Goodwin's death, upon which a coroner's jury rendered a verdict from accidental causes, Members of the bar predict a short term.

Last week, Mr. Amaziah Goodwin, of Saco, met with a serious accident while managing a circular saw on the York corporation. By some mishap the board he was holding slipped, and he fell forward, breaking one rib and making a frightful gash in his thumb, laying it completely open the whole length.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

[From the Rockland Free Press.]

Having effected its organization, the votes for Governor will be canvassed, and immediately questions will arise as to the election, which may evoke a discussion that will show the mettle of the Legislature. While there seems to be a disposition among certain Republicans not only to give Plaisted the benefit of all doubts as to the votes cast and the Constitutional Amendment, but to disregard plain requirements of law if need be, as they say for policy's sake, another class will conscientiously ask that the counting shall follow well known rules and practice, and that the effect of the plurality amendment upon the late election shall be regularly settled by the Court, which is the constitutional authority. We should not be disappointed if a week were consumed in clearing up this matter and determining who is to be Governor for 1881 and 1882. Partisan feeling should not come into the case at all, but right should prevail for its own sake and because the line followed will be an important precedent.

[From the Eastport Sentinel.]

It does not, neither should it be a matter for consideration, who, or what party a decision of the question at issue is to effect. No honest or candid man will have that question in view. The sole question to be settled is one of Constitutionality, of legality. The issue is too grave to be acted upon in a partisan manner. It is one which affects every citizen of Maine. It is too grave a question to be settled by the, ideas of any representative on abstract rights outside of the Constitution. It is to be hoped that our representatives in the Legislature will find themselves freed entirely from the influence of those who would act entirely upon motives of policy, magnanimity or sentimentalism, and take their stand upon Constitutional grounds, without the least reference as to whom a decision of the Supreme Court will seat in the Governor's chair. This is the only tenable ground there is upon which to build a lasting superstructure. It is not in any sense a partizan inquiry; it is wise, statesman-like, and perfectly safe. No other way can be safe or judicious. The eminent legal talent which has favored this manner of disposing of the case must have weight with the Legislature.

DEATH OF HON. JOHN R. BROWN.

The community of Portland were severely shocked and the people of the whole State profoundly affected by the announcement on Monday that Hon. John R. Brown, one of the foremost of the business men of Maine, was dying of accidental injuries received by a fall. The Portland Press says: "Mr. Brown had been seen on the street Saturday, in his usual good health, and had been in conversation with so many business acquaintances, that it did not seem possible the news could be true. Knots of citizens, coming from church, gathered on the sidewalks to gather information which nobody seemed prepared to give. The facts are that Mr. Brown left his residence on Brattahall, Saturday evening, between nine and ten o'clock, to escort his daughter, Mrs. Clifford, home. On the way he slipped on the icy walk, his feet flew from under him, and he sat down with a tremendous jolt. He gathered himself up, and went home feeling very much shaken but not thinking he had received serious injury. While talking with Mr. Baker,—the husband of one of his nieces, who was present—he began to feel a headache coming on, and retired to his room. After reaching his apartment he became unconscious. This was just before eleven o'clock. Mrs. Brown became alarmed at her husband's condition, and telephoned for Dr. Hersom, who immediately answered the call. Dr. Greene was also summoned. The physicians immediately decided that the blow upon the spinal column had caused the bursting of a blood vessel at the base of the brain, and that the case was hopeless."

He remained unconscious throughout Sunday and until 5 o'clock Monday morning, when he passed away. Mr. Brown was born in Lancaster, N. H., May, 24th, 1804, and he was in his 77th year at the time of his death. His father was a farmer and John came to Portland when quite young with St. John Smith, the two engaging as clerks with Alpheus Shaw, in the West India trade. Later Messrs. Smith and Brown formed a partnership continuing many years, and subsequently Mr. Brown pursued business alone. In 1845 he established the extensive sugar house which was burned in the great fire of 1866, and rebuilt by Mr. Brown, but run by him only a short time as changes in process had rendered them unprofitable. One of Mr. Brown's great enterprises was the purchase of Bramhall lands of the Paine heirs, where he erected his magnificent residence and built up a beautiful portion of the city. Another of his important enterprises was the building of the Falmouth Hotel at a cost of half a million of dollars. He was prominently connected with various railroad enterprises, and directly interested in the Rolling Mills, Kerosene Oil Co., Maine Steamship Co., was President of the Portland Benevolent Society, and was in fact connected with almost every public enterprise in Portland. Of late years he had carried on business as the head of the banking house of J. R. Brown & Sons. He was a very able and public spirited man, and his loss will be seriously felt by the city in whose prosperity he always manifested so deep an interest.

Mr. Brown was a staunch Republican, had served the city in both branches of its government, and was a member of the State Senate in 1857. He leaves a widow and three children: Philip, John Marshall and Ellen, the latter the wife of W. H. Clifford, Esq.

He was widely known in all the business centres of the country, and his loss will be severely felt outside the afflicted family circle.

The Portland Argus has discovered that THE WHIG's design in urging a reference of the plurality to the Supreme Court, is to make sure "that the judgeship which "expires within the next two years may be "given to a Republican." We will relieve the apprehensions of the Argus on that point by announcing in advance that we desire the reappointment of that life-long Democrat, Justice Artemas Libbey, whose original appointment we favored on account of his ability as a lawyer and because we thought a worthy Democrat should be placed on the Bench.

ANOTHER CONUNDRUM FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

While the members of the Legislature are wrestling with the Gubernatorial question, I wish to propose a question, for some one to answer. Will a Council elected in advance of the time provided by the Constitution, be a legally constituted body? If not, shall we have as the result of the final decision of the Governor question a de facto Council? The Constitution of this State provides for the election of a Governor, before a Council can be elected. Our Legislature have elected and qualified a Council. Will blunders ever cease? or will Legislatures ever acquaint themselves with the provisions of the Constitution?

Jan. 10, 1881. "A."

UNDER WHICH CONSTITUTION?

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

Under which Constitution was the balloting for a Governor last September?

When I voted for Governor the Constitution as amended in pursuance of a resolve of Feb. 24, 1875, was in force, and contained this provision: "In case of a choice by a majority of all the votes returned, they (the Senate and House) shall declare and publish the same." I directly afterward voted for the Amendment of the Constitution contemplated by the resolve of Jan. 27, 1880, which provided for the election of Governor by a plurality, but said Amendment to be "a part of the Constitution" not until 30 days after the balloting. That the Constitution of 1875 is now amended so that the Governor may be elected by a plurality, I believe to be a fact. Perhaps others may question it. It seems to me that they may question it with the same propriety that they question whether the majority Constitution was in force at the balloting last September.

One or the other of those Constitutions was in force then. Which was it? I can hardly bring my mind to the belief that it will be urged that we were acting under both Constitutions at the same time; still it may be so urged.

As there appears to be a quest on as to which Constitution the balloting was under, it will be the part of prudence to refer the question to the Supreme Court. It does not seem possible that a Republican Legislature will imitate the Fusionists in disregarding the honest views of a large portion of the people whose only desire is to have the public business transacted legally.

The question is not now, who is Governor—it is whether any Governor has been elected. It is certain that a majority of the people have not voted for any one for Governor; and to my mind it is very clear that when I voted for Governor there was no Constitution in force in this State, authorizing the election of a Governor by a plurality.

ONE OF THE PLAIN PEOPLE.

PROTECTION OF THE BALLOT.

As the controversy over the election laws and the payment of U. S. Marshals is likely to be renewed, our readers will be interested in the following brief, but vigorous speech of that sturdy Republican, Gen. J. Warren Keifer, of Ohio, made by him in the House, June 12th, 1879:

Mr. Keifer—I cannot enter upon any proper discussion of this important measure in four minutes, or even in five minutes. I simply wish to say that I am one of those who do not incorse all that has been said to-day upon the floor of this House. I apply this remark to the speeches made on both sides of the House. I am now forbidden the privilege of giving my views on the effect of this bill, and especially the sixth section of it.

One hour's time was given for the purpose of general debate for and against the sixth section of this bill, and all of that time has been used in debate by Democrats and Republicans in favor of it. I have asked time to-day to speak against this bill, which has been refused. Those of us who desire to utter our views in full on this floor against the bill and the objectionable legislation contained in it have been gagged, and we are not allowed to be heard. Gentlemen on this side of the House who favor the bill have all the time they desire.

That is all I need say, except that I wish to emphasize what I have before stated here by saying that I agree with those who claim they are opposed to using troops at the polls as a police force to keep the peace at elections, in so far and only in so far as their use may interfere with the conduct of elections. But I am in favor of using the troops, the Army of the United States if you please, to keep the peace at the polls by driving from the polls the irregular armed bands of men who may be there breaking the peace and interfering with elections. [Applause on the Republican side.]

I have never favored the use of troops as an ordinary police force, or as a substitute for the civil police, but only as an aid to the police when there were brought to the polls irregular and unauthorized troops or armed men, such as the ku-klux and white-liners, and others of like character, to drive away the police, overawe the honest voters, and control the elections and stuff the ballot-boxes. In that case I say it is time for the Government to come in and protect its citizens at home and at the polls.

I have on this floor and elsewhere deprecated the use of soldiers at the polls to intimidate the voter or in any way to interfere with the elector or the elections. I still deprecate such use. The United States troops have never been, as has often been shown, used for such purpose. They have never prevented a voter from voting at any election. But while I would not favor such use of United States troops, I am equally opposed to the use of lawless bands of armed men—call them what you may, ku-klux, regulators, white-liners, etc.—to drive from the polls, overawe, and intimidate voters and otherwise take control and conduct of elections. The Democratic party never has condemned the use of lawless bands of armed men at the polls and it has, through many years, favored and justified the use there of such bands. Lawlessness is preferred to lawfulness by that party in the conduct of elections.

Arms at the polls are not objectionable to that party so long as they are not used to keep the peace. If they are to be used at the polls to promote riots, to commit murder, etc., in short, to prevent a full, free, and fair election, as in many instances in South Carolina and Louisiana, they are unobjectionable in the eyes of Democrats and should be countenanced and encouraged. Now, I am only in favor of using United States troops at the polls when and where, and only when and where, irregular and unauthorized bands of armed men are first used to interfere with elections and with the right of the peaceable and honest voter to go freely to the polls and peacefully vote for members of Congress, and then only for the purpose of putting down such bands. I would only use United States troops to prevent interference with elections and to protect United States officers, as now authorized by expressed provision of law—section 2024 Revised Statutes—when necessary and required, whose duties require them to see that free, fair, honest, and peaceful elections are held for members of Congress.

I cannot surrender these views by voting for this bill. While the sixth section of the bill repeals no law in force and does not affirmatively prohibit any act to be done which may be done under the Constitution or existing laws, is, fairly construed, denies the right to use any of the money appropriated, to be used to feed, equip, transport, or pay any portion of the Army, if it is at any time to be used to keep the peace at the polls in any emergency. To vote for this bill is to surrender, in principle, all we have so long contended for, in my judgment. The words in the section, "to be used as a police force," have no special meaning in the connection in which they are used. Whenever United States troops are used, and the civil power to keep the peace they are used as a police force. In no case have United States troops been used for this country to keep the peace at elections or anywhere else in aid of the civil power save as a police force.

Gen. Plaisted's Message.

As Gen. Plaisted's "Inaugural" is announced as all ready, and as that prepared in advance by a former Fusion aspirant for the Governorship was postponed a year and then came to naught, we may be permitted to indulge in a stroke of enterprise by laying before our readers that portion of the important document in which General Plaisted explains how a person can be "just as good a Republican as anybody," while running as the candidate of the State Steal Fusionists, and in which his financial doctrines are set forth with that lucidity and convincing demonstration so characteristic of his utterances. While, of course, unable to agree with Gen. Plaisted in his financial views, we must concede that we have "hardly ever" seen the Greenback theories more appreciatively or coherently stated than in his presentation of them in the following:

[illegible]

The communication which we print today, headed: "Under Which Constitution?" is from the pen of a citizen of calm and deliberate judgment, who has been accustomed to the judicial treatment of important questions, and who states the case on its actual merits, divested of all partisan bias or considerations of "policy."

A very judicious and clear-headed Republican of another county, who has had much legislative experience closes a private letter to the editor as follows:

"It seems to me that our Republican friends have many of them lost their heads. Why not come to the point at once, acknowledge the blunder in the manner of submitting the plurality amendment, and declare that the Constitution and Law shall govern, and not expediency or fear."

An Associated Press despatch from Augusta, in correcting an error in names, furnishes an apt illustration of the misconception that seems to prevail among a portion of the members. In substituting the name of Senator Morrland, as opposed to the "policy" programme, the despatch says: "Senator Walker is opposed to raising the Constitutional question." But the Constitutional question is raised, and Senator Walker and others are simply opposed to having it authoritatively decided.

NEW MAGAZINES.

ST. NICHOLS for January is as brilliant with attractions as the splendid Christmas number, and some of its features are of unrivalled interest. A decided novelty is a contribution by "Bright Eyes," the Ponca Indian girl, who writes about Indian child life. In Every Boy His Own Ice Boat is described a new sport for skaters, and the Children's Fan Brigade is a description of another novel entertainment for children's festivals. Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement furnishes the first of her promised papers on Art and Artists. Frank R. Stockton contributes a fairy story, H. H. Boyesen furnishes a poem, and there are numerous other capital things in the reading and pictorial line. The frontispiece, Fire-light Phantoms, is especially beautiful. The edition of the New Year's number has already been entirely exhausted, and the editors are getting up so many attractions for the February number that the publishers expect a similar fate for that issue. Charles Barnard has written for it a full account of the Obelisk,—its history and all about its great move; the article will be brilliantly illustrated from photographs and sketches, and will have much to interest the older people as well as the children. In the same number are to be contributions from Boyesen, Susan Coolidge, Rossiter Johnson, Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt, and others, while Lucretia P. Hale is expected to tell us about the Peterkins' Plan of Going to Egypt—possibly with the intention of visiting the home of the aforesaid Obelisk.

MAINE NEWS.

LITTLE GOING ON.

Measures to be Brought Forward.

THE GOVERNOR QUESTION.

A Majority Favor Counting-in Plaisted.

Senate.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 10.

There being no quorum present, adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock A. M.

House.

No quorum present, adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock A. M.

Arranging Committees.

The presiding officers are busily employed in making up the committees, and when they are announced the Legislature will be in working order. Joint committees will be appointed to reapportion the State for Councillors and members of the Legislature; but the Congressional apportionment cannot be made until it has been determined by Congress how many members of Congress Maine is entitled to under the new Census. The probabilities are that we shall lose one Congressman.

A Prohibitory Amendment.

The Legislature will be called upon to submit an amendment to the people in 1882 to engraft prohibition upon the Constitution just as they have done in Kansas.

Efforts for Repeal.

There will be an effort made to wipe from the Statute book the cider clause in the prohibitory law which was enacted last winter. An attempt will also be made to repeal what is called the "constabulary law."

The Governor Question.

The opinion is fast gaining ground that the Legislature will declare Gen. Plaisted elected Governor, without submitting to the Court the plurality question. There will, however, be a vigorous fight over the matter before a result is reached.

The Gubernatorial Votes Committee.

[TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

AUGUSTA, Jan. 10. The Committee on Gubernatorial Votes met in the Senate Chamber this evening, but as both chairmen were absent and only ten members present, adjourned till to-morrow forenoon at 10. Senator Walker's name in connection with the Gubernatorial question in yesterday's despatch should read Senator Morrland. Walker is opposed to raising the Constitutional question.

Vassalboro's returns were sent in to-day corrected.

FATAL RESULT.

Death of Hon. John B. Brown.

PORTLAND, Jan. 10. Hon. John B. Brown died at five o'clock this morning, having been unconscious since Saturday night. He was born in Lancaster, N.H., in May, 1805, and was therefore seventy-six years old. The funeral will take place Wednesday. The hour is not yet fixed.

Murder Trial.

John G. Farr was arraigned this morning in the Supreme Court, for the murder of his wife, Eliza A. Farr, in September last. The prisoner pleaded not guilty. The defence will be conducted by Elliot, King and H. G. Sleeper, Attorney-General H. B. Cleaves, with County Attorney Coombs will conduct the prosecution in behalf of the State.

THE STORM IN MAINE.

On the Androscoggin.

LEWISTON, Jan. 10. The heaviest snow storm of the winter. All the trains very late. The train for Bath leaving Lewiston at 11 05 A. M. was four hours and a half reaching Crowley's, four miles.

On the Kennebec.

GARDINER, Jan. 10. Severe snow storm in progress here this A. M., changing to rain at two P. M., with clearing weather and colder at six P. M. Travel impeded and trains delayed.

Burglar Arrested—The Storm.

PORTLAND, Jan. 10. The robber of the Fraternity rooms has been arrested and the money recovered. He proves to be Rollin M. York, a bleacher on Casco street.

The heavy snow storm has changed to rain.

The Ogdensburg and Eastern railroad mails have arrived. The others are delayed.

Board of Trade.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trade this evening Samuel J. Anderson was chosen President; Israel Washburn, Jr., W. S. Dana, Geo. P. Wescott, Vice-Presidents; M. N. Rich, Secretary; Chas. S. Fobes, Treasurer.

THE SNOW STORM.

The Heaviest One of the Winter.

BOSTON, Jan. 10. Reports throughout New England show that the storm last night and to-day has been the severest of the winter. Heavy sleet here to-day and a rainfall upon last night's snow rendered locomotion in some parts of the city almost impossible. Trains delayed in all directions. To-night weather clear and cold.

MISSOURI.

A Serious Fire.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10. A fire broke out at 11 o'clock in a shoe store on Broadway and extended to a row of one story shops, saloons and restaurants, north and south, consuming them all.

The high wind blew the flames across an ally in the rear into the expensive buildings of the Broadway foundry, situated on Collins street, between Carr and Biddle, and that establishment is now in flames and will undoubtedly be destroyed.

The Fulton boiler and sheet iron works of Roberts Bros., are opposite the foundry on Collins street and are in great peril. The night was intensely cold and the firemen are working under great disadvantages.

ILLINOIS.

Water Famine.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. In consequence of the lack of water at Galesburg, Ill., and vicinity, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway had to withdraw its engines and yesterday paid $300 for ice to melt in order to supply the engines with water.

Brown's corn planter works and many individuals are melting ice which is obtained from the Mississippi. The mercury averages about 10 below every night.

DELAWARE.

Small Pox in Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 10.—Six cases of small pox are reported. There was one death yesterday.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

A Fire Island Buoy Gone.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. The automatic whistling buoy off Fire Island has disappeared, and will be replaced as soon as possible.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Dissatisfied with the Ministry's Measures.

LONDON, Jan. 11. At a meeting of Irish and English Liberal members to-day general dissatisfaction was expressed at the vagueness of the Government's declarations on Irish Land Reform.

Senatorial Contests.

SHARP RIVALRY IN NEW YORK.

HAWLEY SURE IN CONNECTICUT.

BEN HARRISON IN INDIANA.

ALBANY, Jan. 10. The canvass for the United States Senatorship has re-opened, though but few members have returned. The report that Gen. Grant would be brought forward as a candidate created some consternation, but is positively denied by friends of candidates on the Conkling side. The rumor that several Democrats stand ready to cast their votes in joint ballot also excited some heated comments. It is said Tammany Hall will seek revenge in this way for the defeat they sustained by Fusion in New York.

For an Anti-Conkling Candidate

The evening Journal says no new facts has been developed since Saturday, except that Mr. L. B. Morton has avowed himself a candidate.

Hawley's Nomination Conceded.

HARTFORD, Jan. 10. The Republican Legislative caucus will be held Tuesday to nominate a candidate for U. S. Senator. It is generally conceded that General J. R. Hawley will be the nominee.

Indiana Unanimous for Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 10. Hon. Will Cumback has withdrawn from the U. S. Senatorial contest this giving Gen. Ben Harrison the unanimous nomination of the Republican caucus.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS—Third Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.

Mr. Voorhees reported and asked to have printed and recommitted a bill authorizing the construction of a building for the Congressional library. So ordered.

Mr. Logan introduced a bill to authorize the appointment of General Grant on the retired list. The bill was read at length on the request of Mr. Conkling.

The Senate resumed the bill for the relief of Ben Halliday.

The Army Appropriations bill with amendments was placed on the Calendar. Debate on the Halliday bill was resumed, but without concluding the Senate adjourned.

House.

Bills referred by Mr. Spear, of Ga., to exempt from import duties all machinery used in the manufacture of cotton thread and cotton goods.

Bills were referred by Mr. Price, declaring the silver certificates to possess the same legal tender quality as the coin for which they were issued.

By Mr. Carpenter proposing a Constitutional Amendment providing that all the civil officers of the United States except Judges of the Supreme Court and inferior courts, heads of departments and officers whose duties are temporary, shall hold office for four years, and that Congress may provide for the election by the people of postmasters and other officers whose duties are to be performed within the limit of any State, such officers to be subject to removal by the President on other than political or religious grounds.

By Mr. Buckner requesting the President to open negotiations with Mexico or Central America States, for the purchase and cession to the United States of territory for voluntary colonization of the colored population of the United States.

The only important bill reported was the Indian Appropriation bill, which was referred to the Committee of the Whole. The House then went into a committee on that bill.

The Indian Appropriation bill was taken up and several amendments offered, debated and rejected. After discussing a point of order the committee rose and the House adjourned.

OHIO.

President-Elect Garfield.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. A Cleveland despatch says: A delegation of colored men will wait upon Garfield to-day to urge him to appoint Gov. Routt of Colorado, as Postmaster-General.

A delegation from Alabama, consisting of prominent colored Republicans, will ask that their race and section receive proper treatment from the President-elect, in the appointment of his Cabinet and the conduct of his administration.

Garfield will attend the banquet of the Williams College Alumni at Cleveland to-night and will make a short speech.

A Proposed Conference at Mentor.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10. A Washington special to the Philadelphia Times says that Garfield has invited Conkling, Logan, Blaine and others to visit him at Mentor in February to confer on his Cabinet appointments.

WASHINGTON.

Nominations by the President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day: Colonel Delos B. Sacket to be senior Inspector-General of the Army, with rank of Brigadier-General; Captain Jos. C. Breckenridge of the Second Artillery, will be Assistant Inspector, with rank of Major.

New Library Building.

A bill was reported in the Senate to-day from the Committee on Library, authorizing the construction of a new library building, providing for the erection of a fireproof building on Judiciary Square.

The Chinese Treaties.

The President sent the new Chinese treaties to the Senate to-day and they were referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

AN ICE BLOCKADE.

Vessels Frozen in Outside of New York Harbor.

SANDY HOOK, Jan. 10. Twenty or more sailing crafts are caught in the ice blockade which extends one mile or more from Horse Shoe Harbor to sea. The lighthouse on the east side of the beach will be removed to the west side.

NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. The treasury department has transferred $2,804,903 in gold bullion from the New York Assay Office to the Philadelphia Mint to be coined into eagles and half eagles. This transfer leaves a balance up to date of $63,646,528 gold bullion on hand at the assay office.

Long Island Sound Filled With Floating Ice.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. Long Island Sound is filled with heavy floating ice, greatly interfering with navigation. The Sound steamers this morning experienced much trouble in getting through, being compelled to travel very slowly.

Sailing vessels had to be towed. Some that attempted to make the trips without tugs are fast in the ice at different points.

A Severe Storm.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. Rain, hail, sleet and snow continue. The streets are in horrible condition. There is a heavy fog over the rivers and harbor: mercury 36; wind east.

John Kelly and Tammany.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. John Kelly, in Cleveland, on Sunday, stated that he was out of politics now, but felt certain that there was nothing but Tammany Hall in New York.

Fiends Punished.

Henry Berger and Mrs. Sobnikow were to-day sentenced to 12 years in prison for abducting a poor German emigrant girl into a house of prostitution.

THE HELL SON RIVER STRIKERS

To Go To Work To-Day.

The Ringleaders Just to be Employed.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Jan. 10. The Superintendent of the Knickerbocker Ice Company arrived at Verplanck's this afternoon and offered the strikers 15 cents an hour for housemen. The offer was accepted, the Company stipulating that the ringleaders of the strike were not to be employed. The strikers go to work to-morrow morning. Also on authority of the Company the Superintendent demanded of the Sheriff that the military remain till work is resumed. The soldiers therefore will not leave till to-morrow.

It is rumored here that the Radicals and Tories will coalesce against the Irish policy of the government. It is reported that the Pope has sent fresh instructions to the Irish Bishops in the interest of order.

The reported capture of Lima is unconfirmed.

The News says: The effect of the statement of Henry Youle Hind is to vitiate the fisheries award. If Hind's figures are correct the question must be reopened. We hope the government will refuse, in the name of English honor, to profit by a misstated case and will insist on a complete investigation.

The five members of the Commons who are Traversers will remain in Parliament until the case for the prosecution is closed, but if debate on coercion is not concluded by that time, they will allow the defence to proceed without their presence.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 10. The opinion generally prevails that the rebellion in Transkei is approaching its end.

PARIS, Jan. 10. From latest accounts Republican success at the municipal elections is assured in the cities and most of the large towns. The Republican papers publish congratulatory articles on the result of the elections which is considered to have made a breach between the Republicans and Irreconcilable Radicals. The Republican successes are distinctly Gambetta and Anti-Social. Even in Paris no Communists have been elected, although several received a large vote in the districts where second ballots are necessary, of which there are about twenty.

GUILTY OF WRONG.

Some people have a fashion of confusing excellent remedies with the large mass of "patent medicines," and in this they are guilty of a wrong. There are some advertised remedies fully worth all that is asked for them, and one at least we know of—Hop Bitters. The writer has had occasion to use the Bitters in just such a climate as we have most of the year in Bay City, and has always found them to be first-class and reliable, doing all that is claimed for them.—Tribune.

They chartered a four-in-hand team from Mr. Beal, with a careful driver, and made the trip in fine style. After the usual exercises addresses and declamations were in order and the evening was passed in a most social manner.

Baker, Esq., formerly of the Bangor House and more recently proprietor of the Phenix Hotel, Concord, N. H. Mr. Baker is one of the most genial of hosts, and with everything new, neat and comfortable about the hotel, which is heated throughout with steam, we have no doubt that his guests will be well cared for.

PICTURESQUE VIEWS. We have received some very striking photographic views of the region about "The Gulf" and "Katahdin Iron Works" on the Pleasant River. In some respects the scenery of "The Gulf" is the most remarkable to be found in the Eastern States, and it was first photographed, we believe, by the late Rev. Leander S. Coan during one of his summer jaunts in that vicinity. The later views referred to were taken by Mr. W. P. Dean, Photographer, formerly of Brownville, but now of Lincoln, and they show some of the most interesting scenery.

THE BOARD OF TRADE. At the annual meeting of the Bangor Board of Trade, held yesterday afternoon in the Common Council Room, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Henry Lord; Vice Presidents, Thomas J. Stewart, John S. Jenness, Wm. Flowers; Secretary, C. S. Pearl; Directors, R. S. Prescott, G. W. Merrill, T. G. Stickney, J. S. Wheelwright, W. T. Pearson, James Tobin, John L. Cutler, T. N. Egery, I. W. Coombs, H. B. Williams. After the election there was a general discussion as to the measures that should be adopted to increase the interest in the organization and to carry out the design for which it was originally intended, namely, to promote the business interests of our city. The Board commences the new year under favorable auspices. The meeting finally adjourned for two weeks.

COFFEE HOUSE. The Women's Temperance Union fulfilled their contracts yesterday in spite of the worst snow storm of the season, and held an interesting dedication service in their new and pleasant Headquarters, and a small but very pleasant reception in the evening. The deep snow drifts, of course, prevented a large attendance, and the ladies will continue their reception this evening, and hope to see many friends who were disappointed in attending last night. The Coffee House will be under the charge of Miss Simpson, and is certainly a very pleasant place for our citizens to get an excellent lunch at a small expense.

A CONVENIENT APPARATUS. A little apparatus which may well be termed a detective camera has recently been invented. To all appearance it looks like a shoeblack's box, a rough, square-shaped box, which may be slung over the shoulder with a strap, or rested upon the pavement, if need be. In fact, when wanted for work, it is put down on the ground. It carries gelatine plates already in position, with a lens that is always in focus for any distance from 20 to 30 feet. The camera may be used without the least fear of discovery. It may be dropped in the street in the middle of the pavement, before a shop, upon a bridge, any time the owner sees a group he wants a picture of. As the box touches the ground a bulb is squeezed, and the exposure is made. The inventor shows an instantaneous sketch taken on board a steamer of two men by the side of the paddle-box, one of them rubbing his forehead in the most innocent and unconscious manner, while the other relates some story or incident.

PRESENTATION. Last Saturday evening the friends of Dr. J. Stevens, to the number of ninety, assembled at his spacious residence, in Veazie, at an early hour to surprise the genial doctor on his return from lodge meeting. After the arrival of all, ample refreshments of coffee, cake, fruit, etc., were served by the ladies, and Hon. E. Sproul in a few happy remarks, expressive of good will and affection with which the doctor is regarded by his townsmen, presented him with an elegant silver water pitcher and goblet and a silver napkin ring. Rev. A. W. Reed followed with a short prayer, and the doctor then feelingly returned thanks for the presence of so many of his friends, and for the kindly words and generous gifts which he had just received. Music, games, etc., then entertained the company till a late hour, when all dispersed well satisfied that it was one of the pleasantest evenings of their lives, and an occasion that will long live in their memories.

TAKING MEDICINE FOR HIS WIFE. The Lewiston Journal says: The police searched Ann Haley's house on Thursday afternoon, and seized a great bottle filled with liquor. Mrs. Haley was arraigned in the police court Friday morning. She pleaded not guilty and acted as her own counsel. The defence was that she kept the liquor in the house for the use of her husband, who was sick. The defence was well as far as it went; but City Marshal Smith got up and said he followed an old man into Mrs. Haley's house last November and caught him in the act of drinking from a bottle, which Mrs. Haley smashed as soon as she saw the Marshal enter. "Was that medicine?" asked County Attorney Savage. Mrs. Haley said that it was. "What was it for?" again asked the County Attorney. "It was for the asthma," said Ann. "Did that man have the asthma?" inquired Mr. Savage. "No but his wife did," replied Ann. The court ruled it was out of order for any man to drink cordial for his wife's asthma. Ann was ordered to pay $100 and costs or go to jail for 90 days. She went to jail.

THE STORM. The worst storm of the season occurred yesterday. Snow began falling in this city at three o'clock in the morning and continued without cessation for about twelve hours, during which time nearly a foot of snow accumulated. The weather was quite mild and the latter part of the afternoon the snow changed to sleet which continued to fall during the evening. The storm was very severe to the west of this city, and as a high wind prevailed the snow drifted badly, which delayed the trains over the Maine Central Railroad. The train which left here in the morning did not reach Clinton until about one o'clock, and the mixed train due here at about eleven o'clock, was some two hours late. The conductor left all the freight cars along the road, and as the train only consisted of an engine and saloon car it shows that the track must have been badly blockaded. The mixed train which is due to leave at about two o'clock was cancelled for the time, and went out on the Pullman last night, two engines being required to draw the train. The evening train from St. John was about an hour and a half late and the night train out only went as far as Mattawamkeag. The freight trains on the E. & N. A. were cancelled. The day train from Boston, due here at half-past six in the evening, did not arrive until after eleven o'clock last night. The principal delay occurred at Vassalboro where the train got stuck in the snow and had to wait for another train to come to the rescue from Waterville.

FROM EXETER.

Successful Farming.

In the life of Col Francis Hill of Exeter, who departed this life on the 8th instant, we see what may properly be termed a successful farmer. He went to Exeter in 1813, being twenty-three years old, and made the first clearing in that section of the town, erected a log house, and in 1815 married and commenced house keeping. His father was a physician, and died in Bucksport. Francis was one of a family of seven sons and five daughters. The sisters are all dead, and only two of the brothers, Geo. W. and Leonard, now residing in Bradford, are still living. He married Elizabeth Wasson, of Brooksville, who died October 4th, 1870, at the advanced age of eighty years.

They had a family of three sons and four daughters,—one son and two daughters are dead, and the others, viz; Francis W. Hill, Geo. S. Hill, Mrs. Lewis Barker, of Bangor, and Mrs. J. B. Wheeler, of Corinth, are now living. Col. Hill was never of a vascillating disposition, but always made up his mind upon any course of action after careful deliberation, and carefully counting the cost. He ever pursued a firm, even course, not only in taming, but in all matters of business, always wanting his just due, and never taking any advantage of others. He never went into any speculations, but always gave his attention to his farming, varied only by his public duties. For many years he acted as one of the town officers, and always discharged his duties to the satisfaction of his constituents. He commenced life with nothing but his hands, and by untiring industry and strict economy, succeeded in gaining a handsome fortune.

He dated the commencement of his success to a tallow candle. When a small boy, living in Bucksport with his father, he used to take jobs in sawing wood, and by spending one cent for a candle, he could saw evenings, and get enough to pay for the candle and have a few cents left. He continued to labor in that way until he had accumulated a sufficient amount to purchase a lamb. He then added the profits of that lamb to other earnings and bought more sheep, until he had enough, so that he could sell a few of them and buy a heifer, and from that small beginning, when he moved to Exeter he had stock enough to stock his farm. He never, willingly, spent an idle day. He always wanted every day to count, and when he had gained a dollar, he wanted that dollar to earn him six cents a year. He was known by all his townsmen, and others who had dealings with him, to be a just man in all matters of business. His last labor, like nearly his first, was sawing wood. On Friday, Dec. 24th, he sawed wood nearly all day. He has taken the entire charge of his farming up to the close of his life.

He has now gone to his rest, respected by all who knew him. Truly it may be said of him, "He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him." He has left an example worthy of imitation.

THE TRUSTEES OF THE [illegible] HOSPITAL,

Make this Public Appeal for Aid.

It is desired to enlarge the Hospital building and so add to its facilities for serving the community.

The work of the Hospital has been steadily increasing since its foundation in 1871. During the last year a larger number of patients than ever before have been received into the building, and the demand for the treatment of free patients is now more pressing than at any previous time.

The need of larger accommodations for the various departments is very great. It is deemed by the Trustees to be a matter of absolute necessity to add to the Hospital building a surgical ward, a lying-in ward, and a children's ward; and these are so imperatively needed, so manifestly the work at its present point of efficiency and success.

The Trustees hope that the friends of the Hospital, and all who have any knowledge or experience of the benefits that it has conferred, will answer this appeal with the same generosity that was displayed at the time of its foundation; and that liberal donations and annual subscriptions will be given to meet its immediate requirements, as well as to greatly increase its means and opportunities for usefulness.

Subscriptions and Donations may be sent to ISAAC MENKO, Treasurer, 28 Summer street, Boston, Mass.
